DESCRIPTION OF POSTALOCITY

Postalocity.com has been designed and developed to meet the postal mailing needs of individuals, businesses, local governments, and nonprofits through a Web interface. It allows small and large volume mailings alike to be quickly and easily uploaded and submitted to be printed and mailed by Postalocity.

Postalocity is an all-inclusive service, meaning that all physical materials (e.g., papers, envelopes), production procedures (e.g., folding, inserting, sorting), and USPS postage is included in the final on-screen price. To acquire an accurate job quote, the job must be entered and processed by Postalocity, to full readiness for mailing; when the price is accepted then payment is made, and the job is entered into production immediately; if the price is not accepted the job may be deleted without any costs incurred.

Postalocity generally delivers mail to the United States Postal Service ("USPS") the next business day after an order has been placed using the Postalocity service. Small-volume jobs are eligible to have the mailing date backdated to same-day service if entered and approved prior to 1 o'clock p.m. Central Time. "Small-volume" is an arbitrary number that may be adjusted from time to time by Postalocity but not to exceed one hundred unless expanded for special needs of individual clients. Same-day mailing is not guaranteed for all small volume jobs and may be unavailable during high-demand mailing dates or immediately preceding USPS holiday closings. If same-day service is available, the current date in the calendar will be open for selection when approving your job.

Postalocity promises to secure your data with its sole definition of commonly practiced and reasonable commercial methods. You should avoid emailing data files and instead use our secure web portal to transfer your Content. You should have controls in place to restrict access to the secure web portal that is used to transmit Content to Postalocity to only authorized individuals.
